What Are Random Tables?

Random tables are a great way to add some variety and unpredictability to your RPG games. They can be used to generate anything from NPC names to dungeon layouts to treasure hoards. There are many different types of random tables available, so you can find one that fits the needs of your game.

How to Use Random Tables

Using random tables is easy. Simply roll a die or consult a table to generate a random result. You can then use this result as inspiration for your game.
