The Early Years

The Righteous The Beautiful Quartet was founded in 1911 in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The original members were four sisters: Ollie, Gertrude, Helen, and Maggie Huff. The Huff sisters grew up singing in their church choir, and they began performing as a quartet in local churches and community events. In 1914, they released their first recording, "I'm Bound for the Promised Land." The song was a hit, and it helped to launch the group's career.

The Golden Age

The Righteous The Beautiful Quartet reached the height of their popularity in the 1920s and 1930s. During this time, they toured extensively throughout the United States and Europe. They also performed on radio and television, and they appeared in several films. The group's signature song, "Precious Lord, Take My Hand," became one of the most popular gospel songs of all time.

The Later Years

The Righteous The Beautiful Quartet continued to perform and record into the 1960s. The group's membership changed over the years, but the Huff sisters remained the core of the group. In 1966, the group was inducted into the Gospel Music Hall of Fame. The following year, they received a Grammy Award for Lifetime Achievement.
