

Two Jersey Brothers: Stories From Our Haledon Boyhood 1939-1953

My brother, Jim, and I grew up in the small town of Haledon, New Jersey, in the 1940s and 1950s. We were just two ordinary kids, but we had some extraordinary adventures. Here are a few of our stories.

The Time We Almost Got Lost in the Woods

One summer day, Jim and I decided to go exploring in the woods behind our house. We had been playing in the woods for hours, and we were having a great time. But then, we realized that we didn't know how to get back home.

We started to panic. We didn't know what to do. We were lost in the woods, and we didn't know how to find our way back home.

We wandered around for hours, trying to find our way back home. But we just kept getting more and more lost.

Finally, we came to a clearing. In the middle of the clearing was a small cabin. We ran to the cabin and knocked on the door.

An old woman answered the door. She invited us into her cabin and gave us some food and water. We told her that we were lost, and she told us how to get back home.

We were so relieved to finally find our way back home. We thanked the old woman for her help, and we promised never to go exploring in the woods again without telling our parents where we were going.

The Time We Built a Treehouse

One summer, Jim and I decided to build a treehouse in the big oak tree in our backyard. We worked on the treehouse for weeks, and we were finally finished.

The treehouse was perfect. It had a ladder to get up to the platform, and it had a roof to keep us dry. We spent many hours playing in the treehouse, and we had a lot of fun.

One day, we were playing in the treehouse when we saw a group of kids playing in the street. We called down to them and asked them if they wanted to come up and play in our treehouse.

The kids came up to the treehouse and we all started playing together. We had a great time playing in the treehouse, and we made some new friends.

We played in the treehouse for many years, and we had a lot of great memories. The treehouse was a special place for us, and it will always be a reminder of our childhood.

The Time We Went to the World's Fair

In 1939, the World's Fair was held in New York City. Jim and I were both very excited to go to the World's Fair. Our parents took us to the World's Fair, and we had a great time. We saw all the amazing exhibits, and we rode on all the rides.

One of the highlights of the World's Fair was the Trylon and Perisphere. The Trylon and Perisphere were two tall towers that were connected by a globe. We went up to the top of the Trylon, and we had a great view of the World's Fair.

We also went to the Hall of Science. The Hall of Science had all sorts of amazing exhibits about science and technology. We learned a lot about science at the Hall of Science.

We had a great time at the World's Fair. It was an amazing experience, and we will never forget it.

These are just a few of the many stories from our childhood in Haledon. We had a lot of fun growing up together, and we made a lot of memories that we will cherish for the rest of our lives.
